A framed portrait of French tennis ace René Lacoste greets you with an enigmatic grin as you descend the stairs of this basement bar.

It's almost as though he knows you're in for a treat. The bar's name gives its decor away and a recent visit saw two visiting Australian women – dressed to the nines – kicking up their heels as they took up residency on one of the sofas, immediately ordering this signature cocktail and looking satisfied when they arrived ("It's why we are here," one said). Absolut Vanilla vodka, lime, elderflower cordial and honey syrup fill your glass – and a Thai red chili adds enough kick to keep you on your toes.
